REUNION

Of the Treat Family.

First Residents Traveled Overland From Connecticut.

(Special Correspondence.)

Tailmadge, Aug. 20.—The annual reunion of the Treat family will be held Thursday at Silver lake. The occasion promises to be a pleasant one in many ways. Members of the family from various parts of the State will be present. In the afternoon an interesting program will be rendered, consisting mainly of biographical sketches of the Treat pioneers of Summit county, several of whom traveled overland from Connecticut and settled here.

Mr. Daniel Bantz, Otterville, Ind., says: "Have had asthma and a very bad cough for years, but could get no relief from the doctors and medicines I tried, until I took Foley's Honey and Tar. It gave immediate relief, and done me more good than all the other remedies combined."

Piles Cured

Edward Dunelles, Wilkes-Barre, Pa.: "For seven years I was scarcely ever free from the terrible torture of itching piles. I tried all sorts of remedies. Was told a surgical operation might save. One 50 cent box of Pyramid Pile Cure entirely cured me. All druggists sell it. Free book by mail on Piles, causes and cure. Pyramid Drug Co., Marshall, Mich."

MEMBERS

Of St. Clair St. Assessing Board.

Said None Were Property Owners

And a New Board Was Appointed.

Falor St. Crossing Not So Dangerous.

Whole Lot of Ordinary Business Done by Council.

Council heard that there was not a single property owner among the members of the old St. Clair st. sewer Assessing Board, and made haste Monday evening to appoint a new one, whose members are J. R. Mell, Michael Reilly and H. G. Griffin. This blunder means a loss of $30 to the taxpayers in St. Clair st. What preliminary work was done must be gone over again, as it is feared the assessments made by the old board will be regarded illegal, and should they be accepted would always give grounds for objections. Council furthermore passed a motion to the effect that hereafter all assessing boards be appointed by the Sewer and Street committees.

Solicitor Esqate read a communication from the State Commissioner of Railroads and Telegraphs, who inspected the Falor st. crossing, upon complaint that it was a dangerous one. He stated that he did not regard it very dangerous, and that it would be all right as soon as the system of signal and warning bells is put in good working order. Prior to the reading of the communication, Mr. Walker talked vigorously upon the necessity of fixing the crossing before school opens.

A number of Charlotte st. citizens, under the chaperonage of Officer J. A. Campbell, were present to ask Council to reconsider its action laying aside the ordinance to improve this street. They were informed that the citizens had fallen short $1,300 in guaranteeing payment for the improvement, but they said all were ready now to take care of everything connected with the citizens' share of the expense, and a motion to reconsider was carried.

It was reported that the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co. had fenced in that part of Factory st. Council vacated, without providing an opening through to Prune st. Mr. Seidell said this was not in accordance with the agreement, and Commissioner McMillen said the fencing in had been done unknown to the Board. Council then ordered that Factory st. be kept open until Prune st. is opened, according to the vacation ordinance.

The pay roll ordinance, giving the Street department $1,041.16; the Engineer's department $506.30; sewer pay roll, for No. 118, $452.00, and for rebate, $222.30, was passed. The clerk certified that there is money in the treasury to pay.

The Ordinance committee asked for and was granted more time to consider the ordinance amending section 451 of City Ordinances so as to increase the salary of the Fire Chief, create the dual position of assistant chief and captain of No. 1, with a salary of $1,000.

The following ordinances and resolutions were passed:

To construct a main trunk sewer in district 4.

To construct a main trunk sewer in districts 3 and 10.

To construct a local sewer in Howland st., from Lods north to corporation line.

To construct a local sewer in Thornton st., from Main to Miami sts.

To construct a local sewer in Wooster ave.

To construct a sewer in Grant st., from Voris to South sts.

Resolution authorizing an assessment for a sewer in Livingston st.

Resolution authorizing the report of cost of improving Franklin st., from Market to South.

Resolution authorizing a report of cost of constructing a sewer in West Market st., from Kuder ave. west to corporation line.

The following petitions and reports were presented:

Mr. Foster—Washouts in State st. and Pine alley. The washout in State st. is nearly 10 feet deep.

Mr. Linehan—Gutters need attention in Euclid ave. Hawthorne st. is in bad shape, and St. Clair st. citizens object to the old assessing board.

Mr. Martin—McCoy st. is in bad shape, and more lights are wanted in Coburn st.

Mr. Metz—Sidewalks have been left in bad shape by contractors who moved residences from Grant st., and corner of Exchange and High.

Mr. Pliske—Cross st. citizens want a local sewer. Two more lights are asked for in E. Thornton st. Brown st. citizens also want some lights.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution, and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer one hundred dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

BUSY DAYS IN NEWSPAPERDOM.

The First Newspapers of Lawton and What Was In Them.

Lawton, Ok., Aug. 20.—The two newspapers first printed in Lawton represent the contrasting politics indicated by their names, the Daily Republican and the Daily Democrat. The Republican claims priority of birth by reason of consolidation with a paper that existed before the allotment of land. It had nine issues and was called the Last Frontier. The actual first issue, however, from its Lawton office was coincident with that of the Democrat, and both papers came out on Aug. 6. They were of the same size, four pages, ten inches by four. The publishing houses were tents, but large signs indicated the places of business.

The Democrat printed an apology as its editorial leader, the plaint being the absence of the news power press and engine which were delayed somewhere on freight wagons. "Hence we are compelled," writes the editor sorrowfully, "to offer you this handbill instead of our regular-sized paper." The Democrat and Republican are issued every afternoon and the subscription price is 40 cents a month.

Much of the news matter of the first issues was typical of the frontier. The Republican blazed out bravely with two "scare heads" on its first page. "Two tall, slim men" had held up three men from Missouri. The Missourians protested and one of them was shot.

"One of the queer sights to be seen on the streets on last Sunday," related the Democrat, "was a gambler's table surrounded by half a dozen squaws, some with papooses strapped on their backs, and all betting their money freely. Their only expressions were when their money passed into the gambler's exchequer, and then they said 'Ugh!'"

"Another item told of the attempt of the undersheriff to raid several gamblers who were dealing 'monte' to the Indians. The Indians protected the gamblers in their effort to hide their paraphernalia and some squaws who were gambling set upon the officers. After the customary shooting, the gamblers were arrested. One Indian was wounded.

Other criminal incidents concerned the robbery of a farmer, who protested against a fakir game and was accordingly relieved of his money and beaten, into the bargain, and a more fortunate young man, who being set upon by six thieves, "whipped out the whole crew and got back his cash."

With so much excitement it was not surprising to read that the first jury impaneled for the new territory was for a coroner's inquest over the body of a victim of robbers.

"From the number of lawyers in Lawton," said the Democrat, "it seems that the legal fraternity suppose the people to be badly in need of advice, or that a great amount of litigation may arise."

The Republican made known the arrival of "Charlie, the celebrated hot-cake man, formerly of Reno," who cooked $100 worth of hot cakes at El Reno in three days, during the drawing.

Criminal affairs and personal gossip did not make up all the news in these early Lawton papers. "Sky pilots" were as quickly on the ground as business men and adventurers. There were many items of a religious nature, and it was shown that two churches had already been established in Lawton, the First Methodist and the First Christian.

STYLE

As Followed in Schools.

Architecture of the New Buildings.

The Miller School Is Entirely Colonial.

Value of Style as an Assistant Educator.

With modern methods of education and the improvements they stand for there is a tendency to make the school buildings themselves object lessons to the young. The Akron schools were formerly built without any special reference or close following of any style of architecture. Glimmering and gingerbread ideas from any or all of a half dozen types and styles of architecture were combined in the erection and finishing of one of the school buildings.

Types were lost sight of entirely, as far as their preservation in school buildings was concerned. This spirit has now gradually disappeared and the tendency is to produce the building as a type of some particular style or period of European or ancient architecture.

The new Miller building which the local Board of Education will have completed in a few weeks, is a particularly good specimen of the Colonial style. The finish within and without carries out the idea in detail and the school will be a model of beauty and convenience.

The plans after which the Lane school will probably be built are for a building in the Gothic style of the Tudor period of English history. Such schools are object lessons in themselves. They portray the styles of building of various people and various times and the types employed should be pure in order that no confusion may exist in minds unable to pick out a Greek tad or a Roman fancy from the style of a building.

During the institute next week the teachers will be invited to visit the Miller building and observe its many points of excellence and convenience. There is a great central hall or court which reaches from the first floor to the roof. This is lighted by a skylight which fairly floods the place. The windows in this building have been made unusually large and are nearly as broad as ordinary double doors. The ceilings are not as high as usual but this will save expense in building as well as light and heat. The ceilings are high enough, at the same time so that plenty of air for each pupil will be obtainable. It is in the heating system, however, that the greatest steps forward have been taken and while the building is costing a great deal of money it is one that ranks second to none of its size and kind in the country.

The adjourned meeting which the Board of Education was to have held Monday night to formally ratify the selection, adoption or re-adoption of certain school books did not materialize, although the Board came within one of having a quorum. It was said at the last meeting of the Board that this Monday night meeting would only be a formality and it was not expected that it would develop anything of special interest. For that reason it was made an adjourned meeting so that matters of importance could be taken up and settled if so desired.

The next meeting of the Board will be held a week from tonight and as it will be the last before the opening of the school term it will probably be an especially interesting one. A large grist of business remains to be ground out before school can be opened and the Board will probably take advantage of its last chance and do considerable grinding.

WOMAN,

Bicycle, Man and Street Car.

Triple Collision Which Might Have Been More Serious.

Miss Maud Leibold, 103 May st., had a narrow escape from serious injury while riding a bicycle down Main st., early Tuesday morning. A car was just stopping at the viaduct. She turned to keep out of the way and collided with a pedestrian, Hugh McCulloch, 177 South Main st. She was thrown to the ground, and severely bruised, just missing the wheels of the car. Her bicycle fell under the running board and almost under the wheels. The young woman's dress was badly torn but she was able to continue on her way. McCulloch was little hurt.
